SOUTHWEST MISSOURI SHOCKED

A few weeks ago Miss Emily Cleland, the young, handsome and accomplished daughter of Dr. T. H. Cleland, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian Church, on St. Louis street, Springfield, Mo., left home ostensibly for a visit to relatives and friends in Cincinnati. The young lady was apparently well and happy when she bade her Springfield friends good-by. The next Monday Dr. Cleland received a telegram announcing the dangerous illness of his daughter, which was quickly followed by another message telling of the death of the young lady, the parents were overwhelmed with grief, and the society people of Springfield could hardly realize the truth of the strange, sad news. On Wednesday night the body of the deceased reached Springfield, accompanied by a lady from Covington, Ky. The funeral took place Thursday morning at the family residence on East Walnut street. It was a sad, unusual event. The leading ministers of the city and many of Dr. Cleland's friends outside his large and fashionable congregation were present, but the shadow of a deeper sorrow than that of death seemed to intensify the gloom of the occasion.

MADE LOVE TO THE MINISTER'S DAUGHTER.

There were grave rumors about the cause of Miss Cleland's sudden death. Soon after the funeral these fragmentary reports took the form of a coherent story with the most tragic features. It became evident that the young lady had sought to shield herself from disgrace, and thus died in a Jewish hospital in Cincinnati, after submitting to a surgical operation. The painful story as told by Mrs. Ross, the lady friend who brought the remains home, is substantially as follows:

Miss Cleland went to Cincinnati the latter part of October and stopped for a short time with the Ross family in that city. About a week ago the young lady left the home of the Rosses, saying that she was going over to Covington, Ky., to visit an aunt. She was seen no more alive by her friends. A few mornings after her departure Mr. Ross saw in a Cincinnati paper the notice of the death at a Jewish hospital of a young lady whose name was given as Mrs. E. Clark.

DECLARED HE COULDN'T MARRY HER.

The description of the deceased excited the fears and suspicions of Mr. Ross, and going to the hospital he found these grave apprehensions confirmed. The body awaiting identification was none other than that of his late guest, Miss Emily Cleland. She had died twelve hours after having an operation performed. When told that she must die, the young lady sent for an old physician, a friend of her father's and to him, it is said, she related the sad story of her ruin.

Last summer Miss Cleland became acquainted with a wealthy young prodigal of Springfield, George Clark. This young man married about three years ago Miss Grace Newsome, of Springfield, whose family occupies a very high social position through Southwest Missouri, Mrs. Senator Cockrell being a relative of the Newsomes. After his marriage Clark took his young wife to Mexico, and then to Europe, spending nearly a year abroad. When the young couple returned home Clark went to Rolla to attend the School of Mines. In February, 1891, Clark created a sensation by instituting a divorce suit against his wife, alleging that a professor of chemistry in the Rolla school had alienated her affections. Mrs. Clark answered the charges in a lengthy letter, in which she told a sad story of wrongs, coupled with many additional revelations respecting her husband's depravity. Public sympathy was on the side of the young wife, and a separation followed. Since then Clark has gone into society. He is young, handsome and spends money freely. Last summer, according to the story, young Clark engaged Miss Cleland's brother to give him private lessons in history and some other studies. It was at Dr. Cleland's residence, it is said, that Clark first met the young lady. Infatuation followed the acquaintance, and thus was the pretty girl wooed to her ruin. To avoid exposure, the victim was urged to go to Cincinnati and seek medical aid. Such is the young lady's sad story as reported.

Miss Cleland was about 21 years old, an auburn-haired blonde, whose graceful form, handsome face, pleasant manners and lovely disposition had made her a universal favorite among the society people of Springfield. The father of the deceased, Dr. T. H. Cleland went to Springfield from Dubuque, Ia., in 1888, taking charge of the new Calvary Church, one of the most costly houses of worship, whose congregation embraces many of the wealthiest families of the city. He is a scholarly minister, and much admired and loved by his congregation, and Mrs. Cleland is a lady of unusual culture. The sorrow-stricken parents have the sympathy of all classes, and the tragedy has created a profound sensation. Mrs. Cleland is still prostrated with grief, and has had, since the death of her daughter, the attendance of a physician.

COL. JACK CHINN SHOT.

Col. Jack Chinn, the well-known Kentucky horse starter, was probably fatally shot at the East St. Louis, Mo., track the other afternoon by D. D. Anthony, of the track police force.

Chinn was under a contract to act as starter for the East Side track, but some time ago went to Chicago to officiate at Hawthorne. His son, Kit Chinn, acted in his stead at East St. Louis. The management of the latter track tried to hold Chinn to his contract and sent for him. He did not respond promptly, and when he did come did very poor work, so the services of Starter Dwyer, of Guttenberg, were secured.

Chinn went on the track to do his usual work and finding Dwyer there snatched the flag from him and ordered him off the track. Dwyer refused to go and called on the police for protection. Anthony told Chinn to get off the track. The latter drew his famous spring-back knife, but before he could use it was shot several times by the policeman. He was removed to the hospital, where he now lies in a dangerous condition.

"I ONLY WANT TO KISS YOU."

(SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.)

Miss Florence McGee, a young lady living with her mother and brothers at 147 South Peoria street, Chicago, was awakened the other night by a burglar entering her room. The young lady tried to rise, but the intruder held her down and attempted to kiss her. Miss McGee screamed and made an effort to escape, but the man only held her wrists and said: "I'll kill you if you don't keep quiet. I only want to kiss you." Hearing others moving about the house the burglar suddenly bolted through the door, followed by the girl, who, attired only in a nightgown, chased him several blocks. He finally escaped in the darkness.

ANOTHER YOUNG LIFE RUINED.

(SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.)

Carrie Haines, the pretty sixteen-year-old daughter of an East Orange, N. J., gardener, disappeared from her home about two months ago. Her father procured the aid of a detective, who the other day learned that the young girl was held a prisoner in one of the Chinese dives on Doyers street, this city. Mr. Haines and the officer went to the place and found Carrie in a stupor from the effects of opium which had been given her. The girl confessed to her father that she had been enticed away by a woman, who had sold her to the Chinaman. She was taken home.

LOUIS A. PHILLIPS.

(WITH PORTRAIT.)

On another page we present to our readers an excellent portrait and striking likeness of Louis A. Phillips, the genial proprietor and manager of Phillips's Turn Hall, Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Phillips is known from one end of the Eastern District to the other as a jolly good fellow and entertaining host. Louis is a hustler and always lands right side up.

ACROBATIC RIFLE SHOOTING

John, Millie and Bertie, three Remarkable Experts,

ASTONISH THE WORLD.

They do Some Shots that Make
You Hold Your Breath.

KNOWN AS THE THREE De ACOS

(SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.)

John, Millie and Bertie Drunkler, better known in the theatrical profession as the "Three De Acos," are probably the most expert trick and acrobatic rifle shots in the world.

John Drunkler or De Aco, was born at Fort Delaware, Del., on April 25, 1866. He stands 5 feet 5 3/4 inches in height and weighs 151 pounds. He began handling a rifle at the age of thirteen and exhibited considerable knowledge of the use of firearms. He got hold of an old 44-calibre army Winchester and tried shooting at a target at 100 yards. He scored five consecutive bulls eyes, and was so pleased with the result that he tried it at 200 yards, and scored 22 out of a possible 25. This was considered remarkable shooting for a youngster. The boy kept pegging away with his gun until he became an expert.

Drunkler met and married his wife (Millie) some years ago. She is one year his junior, having been born in Philadelphia, July 2, 1867, and is now considered the most daring lady trick rifle shot on the stage. When a child, ten years she could handle a gun as well as many veterans. She was practically brought up among the Indians, and shooting a gun was part of her education. Her parents came East when she was 15 years old, and she met and married Drunkler. The couple have one child, Bertie, who was born on May 4, 1891, and she is almost as expert with the rifle as her parents. She performs with them.

The Drunklers have a standing challenge to shoot against any acrobatic rifle team in the world. They claim the championship and defy any one to imitate their shots. They intend to go abroad soon and exhibit before the crowned heads of Europe.

Below are some of their remarkable performances with the rifle.

Millie places her hand on a board, with the fingers spread apart, while John plants bullets between the fingers and shoots a perfect outline of the hand. Millie also holds a cigarette in her mouth and John shoots the ashes off while walking a slack wire. He also plugs a quarter between her fingers while on the same wire. Millie also does some similar shooting. Millie stands on her husband's head and shoots a glass ball. John breaks another at the same time, doing the back glass shot. Another good shot John performs from a slack wire is shooting through postage stamps on envelopes which are held between his wife's fingers. John also does the glass shot over his head, shooting the ashes from a cigarette held in his wife's mouth. Still another good shot is John standing on his head, with Millie elevated on his feet, each breaking balls in rapid succession.

Probably the most dangerous performance is the double trapeze shot. John and Millie swing from two trapezes by their feet and shoot glass balls from each other's heads.

They do many other difficult shots, such as the double neck and double pyramid shots.

MURDERED AT A FEAST.

(SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.)

William J. Murphy was nearly beheaded in Cleveland, O., the other day, by his brother, Frank Murphy, at the house of their mother in Swiss street.

A wedding celebration was in progress, and Frank, who is intemperate and surly, locked himself in his room, refusing to mingle with the guests. When supper was ready W. J. Murphy went to Frank's room and asked him to join the others. Frank refused to open the door and William climbed through the window.

What passed between the brothers is not known. In a few minutes Frank came out of the room with his hands and clothing covered with blood, and laid a bloody razor on the table. He went directly across the street to the police station and gave himself up.

Upon investigation it was found that William was dead, his head having been nearly severed from the body with a razor.

Frank said he killed his brother in self-defense.

HIS FATAL INFATUATION.

(SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.)

Charles Ryan, of Sycamore, Ill., recently shot and fatally wounded Frank Whittaker and Susie Hess and then shot himself dead with the same weapon in the home of the Hess woman, Chicago, Ill. Ryan had become infatuated with the woman, and for some time had been trying to induce her to leave Whittaker and go with him, but this she refused to do. He visited the house and renewed his attempt to induce the woman to leave Whittaker, when the door opened and Whittaker, with several companions, came in.

As his rival stepped into the room, Ryan drew a revolver and fired at Susie Hess, the ball going clear through her body. Then he turned his weapon against Whittaker and shot him through the lungs. He then walked into an adjoining room, and locking the door behind him, shot himself through the head.

ROUTED BY A RODENT.

(SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.)

While car 309 of the Jersey City and Bergen Railroad was going up Montgomery street, Jersey City, N. J., about 9 o'clock the other night, one of four young women who were passengers gave a piercing scream and with the agility of an acrobat, jumped up on the seat.

"There's a rat under there!" exclaimed the young woman hysterically, pointing under the opposite seat. There was a flashing of skirts and a succession of screams, and in an instant the other three young women were standing on the seats. Conductor Muller, with his car hook, poked around under the seat, but failed to dislodge the unwelcome intruder. The girls left the car.

LOCKWOOD BET ON HARRISON.

(SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.)

George T. Lockwood and George Chapman, two well-known citizens of Warrensburg, N. Y., made an election bet that the representative of the defeated party should be harnessed to a wagon and driven down to the Warren House. The other day Chapman harnessed Lockwood, and, with Ben Hammond, started for the Warren House. Arriving there, Chapman and Hammond hitched Lockwood, horse-like, to a post and went in to have a smoke, coming out in the ordinary way of travelers. Lockwood was given a drink of water, and then started for home on a trot.

COULDN'T LIVE WITHOUT HIS LOVE.

(SUBJECT OF ILLUSTRATION.)

William Walters and Miss Emily Davis, a young couple living in Olyphant, Penn., were engaged to be married. One day recently the young lady was taken sick and died. Walters called to see the body of his sweetheart. While in the room he procured a glass of water, put strychnine in it, and then, looking upon the dead girl, said: "Good-by, Emily, I'll soon be with you." In ten minutes he was dead.

A GREAT CONTEST EXPECTED.

The Costello-Greggains Match
in the Coney Island Club.

BOTH ARE STRANGERS HERE.

On Nov. 23 the Coney Island Athletic Club will again throw open its doors to the sporting public and bring off a great contest, which promises to attract thousands of spectators. The great attraction will be the fist encounter between Martin Costello of Australia, formerly of Buffalo, N. Y., and Aleck Greggains of San Francisco, Cal. Both are well tried pugilists of the slogging order, and possess wonderful stamina. Recently on the Pacific slope Greggains and Costello fought a protracted struggle which ended in a draw, and had it been continued it would have been an open question in regard to whether Costello would have won or his opponent had secured the referee's fiat. Greggains, however, was the strongest at the finish. In the contest in the Coney Island Athletic Club on Nov. 23, there will be no draw even if the fight should last from midnight to dawn, for "Police Gazette" rules will govern, and Costello will have to compel his opponent to stop, quit, or knock him out.

It is the general opinion the battle will be a protracted struggle and will be worth a long journey to witness. Both men are training and will enter the arena in first-class condition. There has not been very much speculation on the result, simply because both Costello and Greggains have never fought this side of the Rocky Mountains, and pugilistic plunders do not know the form of either except from what they have read in the POLICE GAZETTE. Costello has figured in the most battles. He has met a better class of pugilists than Greggains and also has had more practical experience; but the fact that Greggains held his own with "Buffalo" as he is styled in Australia, recently in California, Costello's previous performances will not count in the coming contest.

Sporting men from all parts of the country are coming on to witness the mill. Boston sportsmen and Philadelphia clubmen will come hither on special trains and from up the State will be many large parties. Buffalo will send a delegation headed by Prof. Jimmy Connor, of the Buffalo Athletic Club, Yank Sullivan and Tom O'Brien will head a party from Syracuse, John Collier and twenty-five others will carry banners bearing the inscription "Newark Red-Hot Sports Association"; Joe Wettlauffer will pilot the Newark contingent, Edmund Stanton and his son William will lead the Troy delegation, Barney Murphy will act as guide for the Meriden, Ct. sportsmen's club, Howard Pugsley will be standard bearer for the White Plains division, Dixie Beck and Charlie Gleason will head the Rye, N. Y., delegates, Bill Molloy will captain the New Rochelle division, John Bannon will be drum major for the Portchester brigade, Aldermen Lally and Broderick will head the Yonkers club, and Jim Shea will bring a party of twenty from Highland Falls. Trenton, Rahway, New Brunswick, Bound Brook, Elizabeth, Grey Court, and Greenwood Lake will be represented. Judge Richard Newton and Johnny Eckhardt have made great preparations for the contest, and they will see the arrangements are first-class as heretofore.

THE TURF WARFARE.

The warfare between the plunders of the turf and their legitimate prey, the ring, was carried on during the racing season of 1892 with as much fervor as in any year since Walton quit the turf with considerable of the penitents' money. M. F. Dwyer, Pierre Lorillard, George E. Smith, Wheelock and other high rollers battled against the layers of odds constantly, and it is safe to say that each quit for the year comfortably ahead of the game. Still the bookmakers have paid their enormous expense list and in a majority of instances made money, showing that the great mass of men who play the races do so with poor judgment. Frequently horses are saved for six months or a year to win a vast sum of money in a particular race, when the betting would be large, the value of the stake not being so much of a consideration as the money to be taken out of the ring. The success of George E. Smith's colt, King Cadmus, last year and again this season, and the victory of Parvane, owned by the same young man, who is better known as Pittsburgh Phil, illustrate the successful outcome of patient planning that extended over several months, while the failure of Jockey William Donohue to land nearly $100,000 in bets on his colt by Parvane, out of Rebecca Rowett, who was beaten in the $40,000 Matron stakes at Morris Park, shows that the best-laid plans go wrong.

It is such men as Pierre Lorillard and M. F. Dwyer, however, that the ring stands most in fear of. They have large stables of race horses and a vast amount of money at their command to use in their business. If their own horses cannot win they either buy those that can, or, in many instances, place enough money on somebody's else horse, giving a portion of their winnings in return for the privilege of doing so, coupled with the assurance that the horse is in winning form.

Pierre Lorillard stood to win large sums of money on his good colt Leontachos in both the Metropolitan and Suburban handicaps, but Leontachos was followed by bad luck, and the owner of Raaness did not give the ring many hard knocks until he bought Lamplighter for $20,000. It is safe to say that the latter colt $15,000 out of the ring for his owner. When the great colt landed the Twin City Handicap, Mr. Lorillard landed $27,500 in bets, and so it went through the remainder of the season. Next year he will have a more formidable stable.

Mr. Dwyer began the season with a remarkable run of luck, winning at the Gravesend and Morris Park spring meetings not far from $100,000. Some of this was lost at Sheepshead Bay and Monmouth Park. Longstreet was a great disappointment to his owner, and it is said that Mr. Dwyer lost many thousands of dollars on the horse in the Brooklyn Handicap.

The McCafferty brothers, J. J. and A. C., and their friend Winard, won very heavily during their eastern trip, which lasted through the Monmouth Park, Sheepshead Bay, Gravesend and Morris Park meetings. Aloha was a disappointment, but Helen Nichols, Queenie Troubridge, Estelle, Hy Dr. Hugh Penny, Nero, Lady Mary and other members of the string, were always to be depended upon. J. J. McCafferty said before leaving New York that he would probably race in the west next season.

CREATING A SENSATION.

Flynn and Sheridan's City Sports company, an aggregation of variety talent that created quite a sensation here last season, is giving an entertainment which bids fair to prove one of the most brilliant of this season. The first part, "Murphy's Reception," is the embodiment of apiciness and originality, introducing many versatile artists, and concluding with Mlle. Zittella's success, "The Presidents of the Past." In the olio are the great Bohike, in Hungarian costume; Prince Flatbow, Mlle. Zittella, Matt Flynn, Connie Leslie, the Sheridans, Phil and Crislie, Thompson and Duclos, and Melville, the gymnast, in "La Chut Du Ciel." Attention is called to the great challenge ballet, introducing Bohike, from the Imperial Theatre, Madrid, assisted by the Le Ardo sisters. The burlesque, "The Merry Buccaneers," is quite an ambitious production, replete with happy incidents, funny situations and pretty scenes. The stand work for the show is being done by the Richard K. Fox Show Printing House, and is conceded to be some of the finest turned out of the establishment.

TWO WONDERFUL TROTTING EVENTS.

Two wonderful trotting events were decided recently at Nashville, Tenn. Kremlin reduced his record from 2:11½ to 2:08½, and became the stallion king, and the three-year-old colt Arion trotted against the three-year-old colt record, 2:11½, and defeated it in 2:04½. On Oct. 27 the superb Stamboul trotted at Stockton, Cal. in 2:04½, and succeeded Palo Alto, 2:04½, on the stallion throne. It is confidently predicted that Stamboul will trot in 2:07 before the end of the season. In the meantime the two-year-old son of Lord Russell (full brother to Maud S.) and Evendine, by Woodford Manbrino, wears the crown and he will be sent again to lower his record. Allen Farm, Pittsfield, Mass., has the proud honor of owning the young king, and Trainer Ed

Bither, though still a young man, has the high distinction of having piloted two stallion champions to the wire—Phallos, 2:13½, and Kremlin, 2:08½. Arion's performance is a most meritorious one. As a two-year-old this son of Electioneer and Manette, by Natwood, astonished the world by trotting in 2:10½, bringing the two-year-old record within two seconds of the stallion championship.

BIG PRICES FOR HORSES.

For giving big prices for trotting and running horses, and offering big purses for drivers, America takes the championship. Nov. 13 Frank Ehret's famous racing stable was sold and turfmen from Maine to Oregon were represented. Mike F. Dwyer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., bought most of the best horses, paying $50,000 spot cash, just within $5,000 of the amount he won on Cleveland in the Presidential race. The following are the horses and the prices they brought:

Total for twenty-six head, property of F. A. Ehret, $223,250.	Average per head, $8,587.

The sale was one of the most remarkable ever held in the world.

The pluck shown by M. F. Dwyer in paying $50,000 for five head was commented upon, and one gentleman remarked: "They might as well give up all claim to the big events next year, as Dwyer will sweep things."

Mr. Dwyer will certainly have a most brilliant lot of race horses to wear his white with gold tassels. Don Alonzo, Yorkville Belle, Dobbin, Fairy, and Demuth being fit companions for Longstreet, Banquet, Stonewall, Nomad, and Racedale. Pittsburgh Phil went Yorkville Belle badly, and only stopped bidding when he saw that the Dwyer commissioner was bound to have her at any price.

Phil took Wormser and Sir Roy, and this young man has in them the sort of material to give the bookmakers many a hard knock, as both have shown speed and are as fine looking as any horses sold on Saturday evening. With Parvane, King Cadmus, Wormser, Sir Roy, and one or two others in his stable, the daring young plunger will have quite a string in 1893.

It was thought that Marcus Daly's representative would buy the bulk of the two-year-olds, but Dr. Hall took only Sir Francis. Garrison rode this colt two or three times last season, and Byrnes undoubtedly knows just how good he is. That he values him highly is shown by the price paid, $25,000.

YALE BOYS VICTORIOUS.

Yale won the annual football game from Harvard, at Hampden Park, Springfield, Mass., on Nov. 19, by one touchdown and a goal in the second half, making a score of 6 to 0. Harvard was weakened on the left side of the line by an injury to Emmens and Upton. The day was won for the New Haven boys by "Pop" Bille's touchdown and Butterworth's kick to goal. The Harvard players fought well, but owing to their crippled condition had to give way to the strong lined Elm City men. Fully 20,000 people cheered the victors and applauded the vanquished.

HIS SECONDS THREW UP THE SPONGE.

A glove fight was decided on Long Island on Nov. 14, between Ike Cassin, a New Brooklyn fighter, and Jack Heinlein of Woodhaven. The scrap took place in an unoccupied barn just outside of the limits of Brooklyn. After nineteen hard rounds Cassin's seconds threw up the sponge. The barn was dimly lighted with small lanterns. A rudely constructed ring occupied a good portion of the ground floor. James Goldrick was the referee.

It was anybody's fight up to the eighteenth round, when the Woodhaven man began rushing his opponent to the ropes. In the next round Heinlein, by a well-directed blow under the chin, followed by a swinging right hander on the jaw, sent Cassin to the floor like a log. Time was called, however, immediately afterwards, which saved him from being knocked out. At the call for the twentieth round, Cassin's seconds threw up the sponge. The purse of $300 was awarded to Heinlein.

Frank Warren, for the last two years assistant starter at the Gloucester track, has accepted a similar position under Starter Chinn at the Hawthorne track, Chicago.

Hugh Leonard, Wrestling Instructor, Manhattan Athletic Club, called at the POLICE GAZETTE office last week and stated in regard to the numerous challenges which have been recently issued to him, that his present position will not allow him to give up his class at the Manhattan Athletic Club to go to training for any contest. He will not notice any further challenges unless Ernest Kober, who has been anxious to meet him, will agree upon a time to meet at the POLICE GAZETTE office to make arrangements and sign articles. Leonard also stated that he could not afford to waste time and money training for any match except one with Kober, who claims he can throw Leonard any time, Greco-Roman style. Kober weighs about 25 pounds heavier than Leonard, and the latter says he would be at a disadvantage against Kober in Greco-Roman style only, whereas in Catch-as-catch-can style he would have a more even chance, and he is willing to wrestle both styles, two out of three falls, or Greco-Roman only against time.

Barney Aaron is the oldest ex-light-weight champion pugilist now living in this country. He is over 51 years of age.

Tony Sage, of Dublin, who sent Peter Maher to this country, says Joe Goddard is just the sort of man Maher can whip in short order.

Paddy Gorman, the Australian welter-weight pugilist, who has been in England for the past five months, has returned to New York.

At Nashville, Tenn., on Nov. 15, the chief surprise of the day occurred in the second race, the winner turning up in Bret Harte, a 20 to 1 chance.

Billy Smith, the pugilist, who is matched to fight Danny Needham before the Pacific Athletic Club, of San Francisco, has arrived on the Pacific Slope.

"Chick" Lucas, the middle-weight Greco-Roman wrestler, who has been in this city for some time, leaves on Tuesday for the South to join Greek George's party.

Bobby Burns, conqueror of Cal McCarthy, has thrown up his match with Johnny Gorman, as he wants to fight the winner of the Van Heest and Smith fight at New Orleans.

Miss Lissie Haggerty, of Chicago, recently accomplished her seventh century run on a bicycle. Miss Lucy Porter, another Chicago lady, has also ridden the same number of centuries.

Chicago's baseball pitching talent for next year will probably be Hutchison, Gumbert, Mullane and McGinnis. Smith, a clever young player from Butte, Mont., will be given a trial at short stop.

A special from New Orleans says President Noel has arrived and announced that he has received the consent of Jim Hall and Bob Fitzsimmons to fight in February under the auspices of the Crescent Club.

Charley Mitchell, not the British boxing champion, and Benny Brookman fought 8 rounds at Waltham Cross, London, Eng., on Nov. 3. B. J. Angle was referee. In the last round Mitchell had his man all but out, and won.

A simultaneous exhibition of chess was given at the Brooklyn Chess Club recently by Herr Lasker. He was pitted against 14 players, of whom 13 lost their respective games while two succeeded in drawing against the single player.

Jim Barron, who is matched to fight Dobbs before the California Athletic Club next month, is well thought of in Australia. Just before sailing for America he whipped "Micko" Ives, the champion bare knuckle fighter, in short order.

Philip Dwyer, the well-known turfman, who was stakeholder in the Sullivan-Corbett fight, wishes to deny that he is Jim Corbett's backer. He says: "I never backed a pugilist and never will. Neither will I ever hold stakes again."

Many of the uninitiated think Mike Dwyer's investment of $50,000 at Frank Ehret's sale was not a good one. Keep track of Don Alonzo, Yorkville Belle, etc., and see. It was merely laying money down to wait twelve months and treble it.

The year 1892 will ever be famous in trotting and racing history through the wonderful exploits on the turf of Nancy Hanks, Mascot and Hal Pointer. It is also the first year in many that Robert Bonner did not own the fastest trotter in the world.

Edward P. Mallahan, one of the leading prize ring authorities in America, offers to bet $1,000 to $500 that Godfrey and Choyanski fought 15 rounds, and he will leave it to the POLICE GAZETTE and Sporting Life, London, the two leading prize ring authorities, to decide.

The challenge of Jim Daly, the ex-partner of Jim Corbett, to fight Tom McCarthy, Joe Lannon, or any other man in his class has been accepted by Tom Lynch, the "Irish Giant," of Albany, N. Y. Lynch accepted the challenge on the condition that it be a ten round affair.

Jack McAuliffe is the only light-weight champion in America that has never been defeated, and Tom Hyer, John Morrissey and Joe Coburn are the only three American champions who have fought more than one battle according to London prize ring rules that never met with defeat.

Harry Pigeon, a Canadian light-weight, is in New York. He has issued a challenge to fight any man in his vicinity at 150 pounds and says he can get backing to the extent of $500. He expects to meet Al Dev, the Brooklyn light-weight, for a limited number of rounds or to a finish.

There is not the least doubt but that Directum, by Director, and Evangeline, are clearly entitled to be called the champions of their respective ages, three and four years old. Directum won a $5,000 purse at Nashville as he liked in 2:15, 2:12, 2:11½. Evangeline has made a record of 2:11½.

During the year Dr. T. W. Lauterborn, a member of the Paasick Boat Club, of Newark, and the Valencia Boat Club, Hoboken, rowed 1,000 miles, divided among months as follows: March, 184 miles; April, 306½; May, 50½; June, 59½; July, 123; August, 190½; September, 71½; October, 24.

Kremlin, who now holds the stallion record, is purely a trotting bred horse. A good individual backed up by sterling breeding. He is by Lord Russell, brother to Maud S. It is going to be a close fight between Stamboul or Kremlin as to which holds the trotting stallion record at the end of this year.

Tommy Kelly, the Harlem Spider, called at the POLICE GAZETTE office and left a challenge to meet any boxer in the United States at 110 or 115 pounds for $500 or $1,000 a side, and the largest purse offered. Kelly is backed by Billy Oliver of Harlem, whose money is ready at any time any one desires to pick up Kelly's gauntlet.

Budd Dobie says: "When any horse beats Nancy Hanks's time, 2:04, I shall have to key the queen of the turf up, and again lower the trotting record. One of the pacers may lower Nancy Hanks's record, but I have my doubts about any trotter, even with the pneumatic sulky, this year. Possibly in 1893 Nancy Hanks may have to set another mark for the trotters to equal."

Billy Madden, who is training Joe Goddard at Jim Gibbons's new training grounds at Passaic, N. J., writes: "Goddard is a first-class man to train. Why he goes to work like a mechanic and if his training is a sample of his fighting qualities he will surprise the sporting world before spring." Goddard will train down to about 145 pounds and probably enter the ring at that weight on December 8.

Justice Ellis, of Atlantic Highlands, recently issued a warrant for the arrest of Daniel Egan, the Montana Kid, who is training at the Lower Highlands for his fight with Charley String. Egan, it is charged, interfered in a fight between Charles Henry Newman and Win Derby, and struck Newman in the face, closing both of his eyes. The prisoner is charged with assault and battery. His bail, which was fixed by Justice Ellis at $500, was furnished by O. B. Collins.

Arthur B. Sult, of Prince Georges County, Maryland, writes to the POLICE GAZETTE that he will arrange a main against any breeder in Pennsylvania, New Jersey or New England, to show 17 at weights ranging from 5 pounds to 4 pounds 4 ounces, for $100 each battle, and $500 or $1,000 the odd fight. Sult agrees to fight main in Washington, New Jersey or Long Island.

David Fontaine, who is walking from New York to San Francisco for the world's championship in less than ninety days, trying to break the walking record by thirty-four days, on a wager of $5,000, passed through Florence, Cal., on Nov. 14. Fontaine started from New York September 20, and has walked from forty-eight to fifty miles a day. At this point he was twenty-six days ahead of the record, made four years ago by Landys.

Manager Charles B. Gordon, of the Gordon Novelty Company, visited the POLICE GAZETTE office last week and inspected the immense plant used in the Richard K. Fox mammoth show printing department. Mr. Gordon expressed himself as being well pleased with the thoroughness of the entire establishment, and said that it could not be equalled in this country. The Gordon Novelty Company is playing to tremendous business throughout New York State.

The match between Doc O'Connell, of Boston, and Champion George Dawson, of Australia, to take place before the California Athletic Club next month came near falling through. The trouble was due to the amount which the loser was to receive out of the $5,000 purse. O'Connell thought that the loser's end should be $500, while Dawson refused to fight unless it was cut down one-half. O'Connell finally gave way. Dawson believes he might defeat the Bostonian inside of six rounds.

Advices from Oakland, Cal., state that Billy Murphy is very anxious to arrange a match with George Dixon. He says he will accommodate the colored lad at 115 pounds, or if Dixon wants to fight at 116 or 118 pounds he will meet him for the championship and throw in the belt. Murphy has started in to train for his fight with Tommy White, which takes place before the Pacific A. C. in December. Murphy was married recently, and his wife is close by him in his training quarters.

Jack McGee, of Boston, and Jack Cattaneach, formerly a famous all-round athlete, of Providence, are to fight in December in the Metropole Club, Providence, R. I. The club has an excellent chance of securing a good feather-weight match with Frank Connolly as one principal and probably Walter Halligan as the other. Jim Browne, of Washington street, Brooklyn, will match Connolly against Walter for $500, and the Metropole Club has been asked to give a purse of $500 for the match.

The following cable was received at the "Police Gazette" office:

LONDON, Nov. 18, 1892.

Replying to the California Athletic Club, Stanton Abbott says he will box anybody weighing 120 or 125 pounds, in March next, for a reasonable purse and $500 expenses. He is willing to deposit $500 forfeit with the POLICE GAZETTE to show that he is earnest in his intentions.

ATKINSON.

Joe Choyanski, the popular heavy-weight pugilist, intends going to Australia. He is of the opinion that there is no place like Australia. "In case I get on a fight with Hall and lick him," Choyanski further said, "I will at once depart for that country." "Whom do you expect will win, Costello or Greggains, in their battle at the Coney Island Club?" Choyanski was asked. "Costello, sure," was the quick reply. "Costello is a wonderful fighter, and can use his two hands to good advantage."

The famous billiard player, Maurice Daly, arrived home from Europe on the steamer La Bourgogne. Daly is in the best of health and reports enjoying a pleasant journey. While in Paris he could have closed an engagement to play billiards at $25 a day. He believes that many of the best French stars will be in America next year to play at the World's Fair, and probably an international tournament will be arranged, the games to be played in this city and Chicago. Daly will try to introduce the present style of French billiards at his rooms, Broadway and Thirty-third street.

George Siler, the sporting editor of the Chicago Globe, recently called at the POLICE GAZETTE office. Siler was formerly one of the cleverest boxers in the Empire City, which was formerly his home. He could hold his own with gloves against any of the light-weights. Siler, since he joined journalism, has made his mark. He understands boxing thoroughly, and can write practically, because he understands the theme he is writing about. Siler was pleased with the interior of the POLICE GAZETTE building, and was surprised to meet so many sporting men and pugilists during his stay.

Billy East, the well-known English oarsman, has retired from rowing simply because he could find no one in England to back him against George Bueber. The latter, who claims to be the champion, will also have to give up rowing or else go to some other country, for he is in the same boat with East and cannot find backing for £50. Rowing has fallen into bad repute in England since the palsy days of Renforth, Sadler and Boyd, who were, in their day, champions on the Thames and Tyne. Crooked work led Billy Innes and other backers of oarsmen in England to give up and now the oarsmen have to pay the penalty.

Alec Greggains, who is matched to fight Martin Costello, better known as Buffalo, in the Coney Island Athletic Club, is a tall, well-made athlete. He is a very scientific boxer and possesses courage and endurance. Costello is a strong, powerful athlete, has had more experience in the ring than Greggains, and is said to be a determined and aggressive boxer. In Australia he has had his rag on every bush and has met nearly all the boxers of note, including Evelyn. The contest between these rivals, who are both training in the vicinity of New York, will be decided in the Coney Island Athletic Club on Nov. 23. It will puzzle any one to pick the winner.

Tom O'Boarke, backer and manager of George Dixon, in reply to Jimmy Carroll's proposition to fight Johnny Griffin for the purse of $15,000 offered by the Crescent Athletic Club, says: "If Griffin will consent to fight George at 115 pounds I will make a match with him. Griffin says that if I don't agree to his terms within two weeks he will try and get on a match with young Griffin, the Australian. For Mr. Griffin's edification, I will say right here that if young Griffin is matched to fight it will be with Dixon. George will not fight above 115 pounds, and will not concede an ounce to Griffin or anyone else. We are making money with our variety show, but we will willingly disband to accommodate Griffin, providing he accepts our conditions." Dixon was performing at Harry Miner's Eighth Avenue Opera House last week, meeting all comers at his weight, and attracted large audiences.

The following letter was received at the "Police Gazette" office from Tom Clark, the well-known pugilist:

HIGHLANDS, N. J., Nov. 14, 1892.

RICHARD K. FOX—I have been engaged to train Peter Maher, the Irish champion, who is matched to fight Joe Goddard for $7,500 in the Coney Island Club on Dec. 8, also Joe McGrath, the 110 pound champion of Ireland, who is matched to fight the 110-pound champion of the world, Billy Plimmer, on Nov. 23. Both Maher and McGrath are working hard daily, and neither shirk. Maher is confident he will defeat Goddard in a few rounds. I like both their chances.

Martin Costello, of Buffalo, who is matched to fight Greggains, is also preparing here under the care of the Scotch light-weight, Jack Quinn, and if condition tells for Costello he will win easily. He is a picture of health. He and Maher spar every day and a nice set-to they make. The place we are staying at is kept by Mr. Thos. Johnston, and it affords everything a fighting man requires. The walks and scenery are beautiful. Up to the present the place has turned out two winners, viz., Jack Cattaneach for his fight with Tom McCarthy, and Joe Choyanski for his fight with Godfrey. Choyanski was here up to Saturday, when he left for Philadelphia to fulfil an engagement. All the prominent sporting men visit the place every day and are greatly pleased with the condition of the men. Dave Holland, Maher's and McGrath's backer, along with a number of other sporting men were here Sunday and enjoyed a pleasant day watching the men going through their work. TOM CLARK.

FIFTEEN ROUNDS FOUGHT.

The Dispute over the Choynski and Godfrey Battle.

OPINIONS OF THE EXPERTS.

A technical question came up recently in this city in regard to the number of rounds that George Godfrey and Joe Choynski fought. Godfrey was knocked out while fighting in the fifteenth round, but because the boxers did not fight the full three minutes in the fifteenth round, bets have been made that the fight did not last fifteen rounds. The opinion of Prof. Mike Donovan, boxing instructor of the N. Y. A. C., is as follows: "If you and I agree to fight to a finish at a certain place, both of us naturally look forward to win. But if it happens that I catch you on the jaw, say in the sixth round after two seconds of fighting, and that you do not recover from the effects of my blow after the ten seconds allotted has expired, I would say that you lasted with me six rounds. If any one should ask you about the affair, you could say frankly that you lasted that many rounds. If you did not stay that length of time with me, according to the rules, the battle would be recognized as lasting only ten minutes and six seconds. But rules which stipulate this sort of reckoning have still to be formed. If any such regulations exist I am not aware of it."

Bob Fitzsimmons says: "The fight lasted fifteen rounds. For instance, we will say that a man has fought ten rounds. He answers to the call of time in the eleventh round. Now, the eleventh round has commenced. If he should get knocked out after a few seconds of fighting, I would say that the fight lasted eleven rounds, because I consider a knock out to always constitute a round."

Billy Edwards says: "If I make a bet with you that I will last four rounds with a certain pugilist, and I get knocked out in the first minute of the fourth round I take your money. You didn't make a stipulation about technical points on this and that. To win, my opponent must put me to sleep in the third round. But if he doesn't, I last as long as I agreed I would."

Jim Corbett says in regard to the matter: "My battle with John L. Sullivan for $45,000 and the championship of the world, will go down on record as having been of twenty-one rounds. Almost every paper in the land said so in describing the contest. Technically I defeated the big fellow in twenty rounds and so many minutes. However, I have been always taught to regard the duration of a round from the time it begins until it ends. Even if I came to the scratch at the signal, and if I or my opponent was dropped after contesting a second, we couldn't properly say that we were knocked out in such and such a time. It must be regulated by rounds and in no other manner. That's the way I look at it."

President Charles Noel gives the following opinion: "According to London rules a knock down or a knock out terminates a round. The Godfrey-Choynski fight was under Marquès of Queensberry rules. These rules stipulate that both principals must battle three minutes with an interval of one minute to each round until one wins or loses. Now, as long as I can remember, the instant the principals come to time at the sound of the gong, the round starts from that moment. If one should administer or receive a knock-out the round naturally terminates there and then."

Dominick McCaffrey, the boxing instructor of the Manhattan Athletic Club, says: "It is utterly absurd to claim that the Godfrey and Choynski fight lasted over fourteen rounds. It takes three minutes to constitute a round and Godfrey was knocked out before the three minutes had elapsed, consequently the fifteenth round was not fought out."

Warren Lewis, the boniface of the Alhambra, in Eighth avenue, New York, who is well posted on rules and has filed the position of referee in many contests, gives a sensible opinion. He says: "After Godfrey and Choynski fought fourteen rounds, and time was called for the men to rest one minute, the fourteenth round was ended and over. At the expiration of the minute allowed for resting, the gong sounded for a renewal of the contest. What round was the time called for? It could not be the fourteenth for that had been fought and the boxers allowed one minute rest since it ended. It must then be the fifteenth, and no matter if Godfrey had been knocked out with the first punch they fought fifteen rounds, and it will so go on record no matter who says different."

Gus Tuthill, the bookmaker and backer of pugilists, and Dave Holland are unanimous in the belief that it is utterly absurd to say that Godfrey lasted at the hands of Choynski more than fourteen rounds, and so many minutes and seconds. They base their opinion upon the fact that it takes three minutes to constitute a round, and, if a man does not fight for the eighth of time, he must naturally contest less. Al Smith says a round ends when time is called. If fourteen have been fought, the next one commenced then it must be the fifteenth, and matter if it only lasts five seconds after the gong rings it must be recorded that the pugilists fought fifteen rounds. Edward F. Mallahan, Billy Madden and Joe Goddard endorse the opinion of Al Smith. Edward F. Mallahan says: "In my opinion, after fourteen rounds had been fought and time was called for the one minute allowed for resting had expired, the fifteenth round began, and no matter how long the round lasted after the boxers exchanged blows it must be recorded they fought fifteen rounds, although only one-half of the fifteenth was contested owing to Godfrey being unable to continue."

According to "Police Gazette" rules each round shall last three minutes, and that after a round is ended the men shall rest one minute. The rules do not stipulate that a pugilist must continue fighting for the three minutes after his opponent is beaten, and those who have wagered Godfrey and Choynski did not fight 15 rounds lost. A round only lasts until one of the other of the contestants is beaten, and ends when a man loses by a foul, quits or is knocked out, no matter if that round only last a second after time is called. I decide that Choynski fought fifteen rounds, and that the fight lasted 54 minutes 50 seconds.

At the time Mike Cleary knocked out Wm. Sheriff the round only lasted 50 seconds. Nevertheless it is recorded that Cleary defeated Sheriff in one round. At the time John L. Sullivan contracted to knock out Tug Wilson in 4 rounds at Madison Square Garden, the 4 rounds were fought and Wilson declared the winner. Wilson could have responded to the call of time for the next round had it been necessary. Suppose the contest had to be continued, would the next round, after one minute's rest had been allowed, be called the fourth round? No, it would have been the fifth. The above will do for an illustration in the dispute over the Godfrey and Choynski fight. After they had fought fourteen rounds the gong sounded and both were allowed one minute's rest. Why? Because the "Police Gazette" rules state that at the expiration of a round one minute shall be allowed for resting. Now, I think the fourteenth round must have ended when the gong rang and the boxers rested. Now, when the gong rang for the next round it could not have been for the men to fight the fourteenth round over again. Well, then, it must have been for the fifteenth, and such was the case. How then can any one with any sense claim that Godfrey and Choynski did not fight fifteen rounds? I am aware that the "Police Gazette" rules state that each round shall last three minutes, and I am also aware the fifteenth round, which ended the Godfrey and Choynski battle, did not last the full three minutes, because Godfrey was put to sleep before three minutes had expired, but while the rules stipulate that each round shall last three minutes, if one contestant is stopped, beaten or knocked out before that three minutes expire, the round counts just the same. A round ends when a boxer is beaten, and no matter what experts may say, it will go into prize ring history that Godfrey and Choynski fought 15 rounds.

I have witnessed nearly all the champion pugilists punch the bag, from 1866 to 1892, and when I say champions I mean pugilists that have held title in either England or America, and, with the exception of Jim Mac, I never saw any one who could do the one, two, three in succession, and keep on punching the inflated flying rubber, like James J. Corbett. Joe Coburn, when he was matched to fight Mike McCool for the championship of America in 1890 used to daily punch the bag at Laetonia Springs, Ky. Coburn was a quick, skillful boxer, and he could make the bag fly, but he lacked the quickness of Corbett. Joe Wormald could keep the bag flying, but his arm, which was injured once by a dumbbell, prevented him from doing himself justice. Ned O'Baldwin, the Irish Giant, who stood 6 feet 6 1/2 inches in his stockings, when he trained to fight Jim Mac, with whom he was matched in the seventies, was a quick, scientific boxer, but he could not fight the bag like Corbett.

Aaron Jones, who fought Tom Sayers twice in England, and fought Mike McCool in 1867 for the championship of America, was quite an expert in fighting the bag, but he had poor limbs and was very lumbering. Jones was one of the most scientific pugilists ever seen in this country, and it was nothing but his lack of activity that caused McCool to defeat him. Mike McCool, whose defeat in 1863 made Joe Coburn champion, was no use in front of a fighting bag. He could strike a powerful blow, but he was clumsy and slow, and even in his best day he was only a chopping block for first-class, scientific pugilists. Jimmy Elliott, who fought dozens of battles in the ring and outside, paid considerable attention to punching the bag and the ball, but he was always troubled with his eyesight, which not only bothered himself, but his opponents, because he had a peculiar squint, and a man in front of him could not tell when or where he was going to send his mawleys. Any of the above pugilists, if they were living to-day, would not stand any show with Corbett. At least that is my opinion.

Tom Allen, of St. Louis, was an expert at fighting the bag, and he would train to the hour. Allen in his day was one of the best men who ever fought for the championship up to 1870, when Jim Mac defeated him. Jim Mac in 1869 possessed the science and stamina to defeat any man in the world. Mac's favorite pastime was punching the bag, and when I witnessed the tall, well-proportioned athletic pugilist premier Corbett, make the ball fly at the Grand Opera House, New York, on Nov. 8, it reminded me of the palm days of Jim Mac. Every one is entitled to his opinion, and it is sometimes necessary to see before you can believe. I have seen all the champions fight and train from the time Mike McCool beat Bill Blake, but the two quickest and most scientific boxers who could train up to the notch and show science, activity and generalship in the ring, are Jim Mac, of 1870, and James Corbett, of 1892. Mac was a two-handed fighter. He used his head, knew every foot of a twenty-four foot ring, and he gained his activity by plenty of running and walking, and paying special attention to fighting the bag. It is my opinion that good strong legs are just as necessary in a fistie encounter as a good pair of lungs, biceps and well trained muscular arm. Mac's many victories in the ring were attributed to his activity on his feet and his knowledge of the science of boxing, and the quickness he gained by fighting the bag. Corbett's victory over Sullivan was due to his quickness with his hands and his activity on his feet. Sullivan lacked both.

At the time Sullivan fought Paddy Ryan he was active and had first-class legs. Instead of taking regular exercise and keeping up his once splendid development he got careless and seldom fought the bag. Sullivan, of course, was a great boxer in his day. He was a powerful athlete, always carrying nearly 200 avoirdupois, but his forte was rushing and delivering one heavy blow. Sullivan could make a grand exhibition with the fighting bag, but even in his palm days he could not do the work for fifteen minutes in front of a bag that Corbett does. Charley Mitchell is a great pugilist, a scientific boxer, and knows how to fight a bag and keep at it, but for quickness and precision he would not be in it with Corbett.

Among the most remarkable trainers, not of this year but of all time, must be accounted Belle Vars, whose race record—3:08 1/2—of 1891 equals the record of Maid B., which was the champion mare for six years. With the exception of Martha Wilkes's heat in 3:08, Belle Vars is the fastest ever made in a race, and with all respect to Martha Wilkes I think Belle Vars's mile the most remarkable, because it was won in a fighting heat, in contention with a fast field, whereas Martha was merely chased by a competitor that could not trouble her. Belle Vars trotted through her field in the last half, coming from the half-way post in 1:02 1/2. Belle Vars is a bay mare, foaled 1887, by Vatican, 3:39 1/2. (son of Belmont, out of Vars, granddam of Kremlin, 2:11 1/4, by Lambert-Blanc), dam Nell (dam of Georgetown, 2:37), by Estel Eric, son of Ericson, the sire of the dam of Moquette, 2:10. She was bred by B. H. Neale, of Lexington, and was an early winner, winning the yearling stake at the Lexington meeting of 1889 in 2:38. She was not trotted as a two-year-old, meanwhile becoming the property of S. A. Browne & Co., of Kalamazoo, but in her three-year-old form took a record of 2:25 1/2. Vars was indulged last year again, but this year came out greater than ever, as our Western-Southern reports have told. She is yet young, and Mr. Browne believes that she is destined to lower all records.

I see that the great indoor sporting event of the season will undoubtedly be the one given at Madison Square Garden on Dec. 17, under the auspices of the New York Press Club. The proceeds of this event are to be used to swell the building and charity fund of the organization, and every effort will be put forth to make the affair attractive enough to justify an enormous attendance of spectators. Every kind of sport will be featured upon the programme. One of the events of the carnival will be an exhibition of trotting by the favorite queen of the turf, Maid B. A bicycle race, in which Zimmerman, Windie, Berlin, Taylor and other champions will contest. This event alone ought to attract 5,000 spectators, for these great wheelmen have never yet met in this vicinity to test their respective racing qualities. Then there will also be a football match between the representatives of two of the leading colleges and also one under Gaelic rules between two of the best teams: a lacrosse match, boxing by Fitzsimmons, the middle-weight champion; Peter Jackson, if he is in this vicinity, and others of like prominence. William Muldoon and Ernest Roeber will give a wrestling bout. There will be four athletic competitions to bring out all the champions. These events will be a 60-yard dash, 220-yard hurdle race, half-mile run and two-mile bicycle race, all handicaps. These races will be governed by the rules of the A. A. U. Other attractions will be selected from the numerous list that have been placed at the disposal of the committee.

A HAMMER AND TONGS FIGHT.

There was a well-contested glove fight decided on Petty's Island, on the Delaware river, on Nov. 12. The principals were Henry McTaggart and Jerry Morphy, who got into a quarrel over charges of crooked work on each other's part in one of the P. R. T. Richmond divisions of the Twenty-fifth ward and took this means of settling their differences. McTaggart was seconded by Orr Woodbury, while a fellow named Downs acted for Morphy. A well-known optician boxer acted as referee.

The party of pugilists with a few selected friends took boats early in the morning and landed at the island, where a ring was soon marked out near a clump of willows, out of view from the city shore.

It was a hammer-and-tongs fight from the first, as neither man had skill in boxing, and the first round found both men with blood streaming from their noses.

The second round was fiercer than the first, little attention being paid to the orders of the referee, who declined to act any longer.

After nine more ugly rounds had been fought the men presented such a shocking appearance that the friends of both interfered and stopped the fight, fearing it would result in the killing of one or the other. After the fight the party returned to the city in their boats.

M. M., New York.—1. Corbett and Jackson, according to the referee's decision, did not fight a draw. The referee, Hiram Cook, declared it was no contest. 2. Sullivan and Mitchell fought for 1500 a side near Chantilly, France, March 10, 1888. Thirty-nine rounds were fought according to London prize ring rules, when Sullivan's backer paid Mitchell's second, Jack Baldock, £350 to make the contest a draw. 3. Joe Goddard.

W. P. S., Boston, Mass.—Paddy McBride, who will fight any man in the world for $1000 a side, at 122 pounds, was born in the County Donegal, Ireland; June 18, 1866. Came to this country in 1887, and located in Philadelphia. McBride started boxing in 1888, his first fight was with Pete Brown of Troy, whom he defeated in 2 rounds, with bare knuckles. Fought a draw with Geo. Hagen, with skin gloves, Hagen weighing 30 pounds more than McBride; 15 rounds were fought. He defeated Mike Dolan, 3 rounds, with bare knuckles, at Philadelphia. Defeated Dave O'Leary, 5 rounds at Buffalo, N. Y. Defeated Jimmy Lynch, April 23, 1890, in 2 rounds, at Hoboken, N. J. Defeated Tom Ferguson in 4 rounds, at Philadelphia. Also John Dugan, 4 rounds, at Bradock, Pa. McBride was defeated by Jimmy Lynch in 18 rounds, June 16, 1890.

J. & B., New York City.—1. Godfrey and Choynski fought 15 rounds. 2. At the expiration of one minute after a round has ended time is called, when boxers are fighting according to Queensberry or "Police Gazette" rules. After the minute allowed for resting expires and the gong rings the boxers must come to the scratch, and the fifteenth round begins. No matter if the contest ends on the first exchange of blows, 15 rounds were fought, although the 3 minutes allowed by the rules for fighting had not expired. The 1 minute rest allowed after the 15 rounds had been fought ended the round, just the same as chapter 2 in a book follows chapter 1. If a question was raised that 15 rounds had not been fought by Joe Choynski and George Godfrey, why one-half theistic records recorded in prize ring chronology would be upset.

J. W., Boston, Mass.—The following are the records of Louis Cyr, the "Police Gazette" champion strong man made in the Aquarium, London, Eng., on Jan. 19, 1893: Lifting 373 1/4 pounds with one hand from the floor to shoulder and slowly pressed at full arm's length above the head. Putting up a 261-pound barrel with two hands from the floor to the shoulders in one motion without touching any part of the body, then slowly pressed at arm's length above the head. Lifting 174 pounds in one sweep from the floor at arm's length with the right hand, also the same feat was repeated with the left hand. Elevating 104 1/2 pounds held out from the shoulder at a right angle with the body and brought back to position in same manner. Shouldering a barrel of cement weighing 216 pounds with one hand without the aid of his knees. Five hundred and fifty-one pounds lifted from the floor with one finger only. Lifting 2,638 pounds on a platform with the back without harness, being the wonderful feat which has astonished all England. Pulling against four horses of 1,000 pounds each, two horses each arm, made at Bohmer Park, Montreal, Sept. 30, 1891. Lifting off the floor with one hand 681 pounds. This accomplished without artificial aid. Putting up a 195-pound dumbbell from floor to shoulder with one hand, then raised above head to full extent of arm's length. Lifting off the floor with one finger 447 pounds. Putting up 77 pounds with extended right hand at right angles with body. Lifting bar-bell of 223 pounds with both hands in one motion from floor to shoulders, then raised slowly to full arm extent above the head.

P. W., Philadelphia.—William Barnie, the baseball player, was born Jan. 25, 1855, in New York city, and commenced playing ball in 1866 with amateur clubs in Brooklyn. In 1870 he joined the famous Nassau Club, of Brooklyn, with which he remained, filling several positions, mostly that of catcher, until 1873, when Manager Robert Ferguson engaged him for his Atlantic nine. In 1874 Barnie caught for the Hartford team and in 1875 he caught for the Keokuk team until the club disbanded in June of that year. Barnie then joined the Mutuals, of New York, who then played their games on the old Union grounds, Brooklyn, and caught Bobby Matthews. In 1876 James A. Williams, now president of the Western League, was manager of the Columbus Club, and he engaged Barnie to catch for his team. Among some of the noted games Manager Barnie caught in during the season of 1877 was an eleven inning contest on July 7 between the Buckeyes and the Champions, of Springfield, O., in which neither team scored a run, Barnie accepting all of 18 chances. He also caught for the Buckeyes in an eighteen inning tie game, July 9, with the Tecumseh team, of London, Ont. Being crippled in one hand and having an opportunity to rest, Barnie engaged with the Buffalo Club as manager for the remainder of that season and selected for it the team that won the championship of the International Association in 1878. In 1879 and 1880 he caught in the Knickerbocker Club, of San Francisco. In 1881 he reorganized the Atlantic, of Brooklyn. In 1885 he managed the Philadelphia. In 1888 he went to Baltimore where he managed the club there.

MITCHELL AND HALL TALK FIGHT.

The Sporting Life, London, publishes the following: The liberal bids made by the presidents of the Coney Island and Olympic Clubs for the proposed glove contests between Charley Mitchell (England's boxing champion) and Jims Corbett (Sullivan's conqueror) and between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Hall, which appeared exclusively in yesterday's Sporting Life, excited the wonder and admiration of athletes in the United Kingdom. For the two fights, the Coney Island Club, through Judge Newton—an honorable and responsible American gentleman—offer no less than £11,000, viz., £3,000 for the Mitchell and Corbett fight, £2,000 for the Hall and Fitzsimmons fight, and £1,000 each to Hall and Mitchell for expenses. This is indeed a big bid, and by some business men would be accepted without the slightest hesitation. Previously, however, the Olympic Club of New Orleans, through its respected president, Mr. Charles Noel, made a most handsome offer, viz., $25,000 for the Mitchell and Corbett match (Mitchell to receive $7,500 for expenses), and $50,000 for the Hall and Fitzsimmons match (Hall to be allowed $1,000 for expenses).

Our representative had an interview with Mitchell and Hall in regard to these proposals, and their replies were cable to the Police Gazette, New York.

Asked who had first claim on Corbett, Mitchell said: "I have first claim, and I must say that, as to his personal feelings, I think they might be easily modified, for all they are worth, as when Corbett has wound up all other topics he falls back upon my name, solely for advertising purposes."

Mitchell added: "The reason for this personal feeling against me is vague. I alone have caused for a grievance. Corbett (or his manager) in an underhanded way secured an engagement at Harry Miner's Theatre to supplant Slavin and myself, who had a prior engagement to spar there. This caused the eruption, out of which so much capital has been made."

"If it will be any solace to Corbett, I will say that I am sorry for what occurred afterwards at Miner's Theatre, for everything that could be said derogatory to me and in Corbett's favor appeared in print."

"Any way, all my personal feelings can be settled in a manly way when we meet in the ring."

"In regard to size of ring, Corbett has intimated that I would like a big ring. In order to display my sprinting abilities. Now, I would prefer boxing Corbett in a 12-foot ring; but whatever sized ring we fight in, I am open to wager a substantial sum that most of the sprinting is done by Corbett, and I am content to leave the verdict to a show of hands on the part of the American gentlemen present."

Mitchell said both Hall and himself were satisfied with the offer made, and he would leave the selection to Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

"You can say," Hall added, "that I am very pleased the question looks like being settled between Fitzsimmons and myself, as it is very near time one of us was out of it. As I have neither variety company nor theatrical engagements, I prefer fighting to talking, and am ready to sign articles and put up my money at once."

Here Mitchell broke in with—"Let Corbett and Fitzsimmons name the club, deposit some money with the Police Gazette, New York, and forward articles for our signatures, and both matches are assured, but, if they prefer our signatures first, we shall be happy to oblige them. Our money can be on hand at an hour's notice, and we await replies from Corbett and Fitzsimmons with some impatience, being anxious to get the matches fixed without further palaver."

JACKSON CANNOT GET A MATCH.

Peter Jackson, the champion colored pugilist of the world, accompanied by Warren Lewis, Paul Boyton and Howard E. Beckett, of the World, called at the POLICE GAZETTE office on Nov. 14. Jackson is eager to fight any man in the world, and Warren Lewis offers to back him. There is little chance of Jackson securing a match unless Frank P. Slavin agrees to again enter the ring. Jim Corbett is an actor, and will not fight for one year. That Jackson recognizes the fact that he cannot get on a match goes without the saying. He made the crack about turning actor, but remarked that people might not care to see him as Othello, about the only character he could portray with any degree of success. He would not consider an offer to join a chorus to "push these clouds away," and he sees before him only one path, and that leading to the prize ring. But unfortunately that path is clear at present. There is no one to dispute his progress, and as there cannot be a fight unless there are two men in the ring, Peter is forced to rest on his oars and await the turn of the tide of public sentiment, which will wash clear the stage of the actors who can't act and won't fight.

George Le Blanche, the Marine, has written a letter to Warren Lewis, the proprietor of the Alhambra, in Eighth avenue, to try and arrange a match for him to fight Jack Dempsey or some other middle-weight, the contest to take place in the Coney Island Athletic Club. Dempsey recently announced that he was willing to meet Le Blanche, and if Dempsey has not changed his mind Warren Lewis will request the Coney Island Club to offer a purse of $3,000 for them to fight for.

of Birmingham, Ala.

John F. Vollmers is a king amongst tonsorialists. He was born in New Orleans 38 years ago, and when quite a lad earned $10 a week at his chosen profession. He gradually developed into one of the fastest of barbers and has a record of nine minutes for hair cutting and shaving. John is hair fellow well met with every one, and is, besides being an A. No. 1 tonsorialist, an actor and vocalist of no mean order. In athletics too, he is way up and can box and wrestle with the best of 'em. Vollmers went to Birmingham, Ala., when the Magic City first came into prominence, and sought employment with Brandstone at the famous Wilson Parlors, and astonished the proprietor by turning in $19.70 for thirteen hour's work on the day of his arrival. His reputation for speed spread among the inhabitants and he gained such popularity that he was prevailed upon to start in business for himself, which he did, and now he has the finest equipped place in Alabama and has the custom of the best people of the place. John is genial and whole souled and never made a friend but he kept him.

WATCHES AND JEWELRY.

GOLD PLATED
WARRANTED GENUINE.
BOX JOINTS.

Don't buy a common looking silver watch when you can now obtain for the small sum of $4.95 a handsome genuine 14 karat gold plated hunting case, full engraved watch with a first-class full jeweled movement, a perfect time keeper, genuine full plate handsomely decorated and ornamented, fully equal in appearance to the watches regularly sold by jewelers at from $15 to $25. In carrying this watch, you have the credit of carrying a solid gold watch, as the plating process is got down so fine now-a-days that it is almost impossible to detect the difference. The engraving on the case is just the same as on the high priced watches and is in the very latest and latest patterns. Some will doubt our ability to be able to supply such a watch at this price, and to convince you that we mean just what we say, we make the following most extraordinary offer for next 30 days.

MEDICAL.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

Sufferers from Nervous Debility, Youthful Indiscretions, Lost Manhood.

BE YOUR OWN PHYSICIAN!

Many men, from the effects of youthful imprudence, have brought about a state of weakness that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever being suspected, they are doctored for everything but the right one. Notwithstanding the many valuable remedies that medical science has produced for the relief of this class of patients, none of the ordinary modes of treatment effect a cure. During our extensive college and hospital practice we have experimented with and discovered new and concentrated remedies. The accompanying prescription is offered as a certain and speedy cure, as hundreds of cases in our practice have been restored to perfect health by its use after all other remedies failed. Perfectly pure ingredients must be used in the preparation of this prescription.

Rx—Erythroxylon coca, 14 drachm. Jerubebim, 14 drachm. Helonias Dioica, 14 drachm. Gelsemium, 8 grains. Ext. ignatia amara (alcoholic), 2 grains. Ext. leptandra, 2 scruples. Glycerin, q. s.

Mix. Make 60 pills. Take one pill at 3 p. m., and another on going to bed. In some cases it will be necessary for the patient to take two pills at bedtime, making the number three a day. This remedy is adapted to every condition of nervous debility and weakness in either sex, and especially in those cases resulting from imprudence. The recuperative powers of this restoration are truly astonishing, and its use continued for a short time changes the languid, debilitated, nerveless condition to one of renewed life and vigor.

As we are constantly in receipt of letters of inquiry relative to this remedy, we would say to those who would prefer to obtain it from us, by remitting $1, a securely sealed package containing 60 pills, carefully compounded, will be sent by return mail from our private laboratory, or we will furnish 5 packages, which will cure most cases, for $5.

If so, and you suffer from Nervous Debility, Impotency, Spermatorrhea, Night Emissions, Shrunken Parts, Nervousness, Forgetfulness, Confusion of Ideas, Languor, Dyspepsia, Lame back, Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Complaint, and the many evils resulting from secret habits in youth or passionate excesses in maturer years, we wish to say that the marvelous invention of Dr. Sanden is an absolutely positive cure. It has cured thousands every year after all known medicines and other treatments have failed. The fact is that MEDICINES NEVER HAVE NOR NEVER WILL cure these troubles, as you well know if you are a sufferer and have tried them. Electricity—which is nerve force—is the element that was drained from the system, and to cure IT MUST BE REPLACED. Our Dr. Sanden Electric Belt is a complete medical battery, same as used by the foremost physicians throughout the world, scientifically constructed upon the principals of Galvani and Volta, giving the genuine soothing currents which at once permeate the entire body, and in above weaknesses we send the current direct to the parts affected, instantly causing a healthy, glowing warmth and rejuvenating of every organ, so that decided benefits are experienced from the first week's use of the belt. We thus add a positive strength to the system without weakening the stomach by poisonous drugs, and our belts and hygienic advice will cure every case or money refunded. We warrant our belts to give the true currents of electricity, which can be felt IMMEDIATELY UPON CHARGING. OR WE FORFEIT $10,000.
